Lewis Rips Labor Leaders For Disqualifying Barkley

CHICAGO — (AP) — Union labor ranks were ripped apart today by angry and bitter discord over the sudden dumping of Vice President Alben Barkley as a Democratic presidential candidate.

John L. Lewis — the bushy-browed leader of the United Mine Workers — was in a towering rage against CIO and AFL leaders whom he accused of "small time political intrigue" with some Democratic presidential hopefuls to chop down the Kentuckian, a long-time friend of labor.

But this Lewis anger was only part of a story of backstage maneuvers, political coalitions and divisions which have been boiling beneath the surface of this 31st Democratic national convention.

And it was, in part at least, the story of the struggle between Democratic factions to name the party nominee.

Lewis said in part in his statement dictated from Washington: "Vice President Barkley has always been a friend of organized labor. He has led a distinguished career, deserving of the eternal gratitude of every man in America who works for a living as well as all other citizens."

Reuther is the young chief of the United Automobile Workers and vice president of the CIO. Harrison is a member of the executive council of the AFL and president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Kroll is director of the CIO's Political Action Committee.

These three were among the group of labor leaders who had breakfast with Barkley Monday morning. They informed him they could not support him because of his age. A few hours later, the vice president — deeply hurt and angry — withdrew from the race.

Demos Compromise Loyalty Rule To Halt Dixie Revolt

Steel Shortage Forces Closing Of Shell Plant

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A shutdown of the Army's largest shell-making factory emphasized today the developing crisis in defense production resulting from the steel strike now in its eighth week.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace announced yesterday that a shortage of steel has forced the closing of the Chevrolet plant in St. Louis, which makes about half the Army's 105-millimeter artillery shell casings.

Pace said the shutdown will "seriously affect the production of finished shells by next month" when the impact begins to reach the shell loading plants.

2,000,000 Unemployed
"Of necessity," he said, "it will continue to affect the production of finished shells for several months thereafter."

The plant, employing 2,600 workers, is operated by the Chevrolet division of General Motors.

Already, the strike over wage boosts and a compulsory union shop demanded by the 650,000 members of the CIO United Steelworkers Union had curtailed production of aircraft and automotive parts vital to the defense program.

The trade magazine Iron Age estimated total unemployment resulting from the steel strike at nearly two million workers and the total loss to the nation's economy at four billion dollars. It said steel production losses will total 17 million tons by the end of this week.

With no end to the 52-day old dispute in sight, presidential assistant John R. Steelman continued telephone conversations with union and industry spokesmen. He hoped to find some basis for calling for new negotiations.

Meanwhile, a government-named task force of five steel industry executives proposed a formula

Gen. Grow On Trial For Not Protecting Secret Information

FT. MEADE, Md. — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, former military attaché at the U. S. embassy in Moscow, went on trial before eight generals today on charges of improperly writing classified information in private records and failing to safeguard such data.

The 56-year-old general's diary reportedly was photographed by Russian agents while Grow was in Frankfurt, Germany, in March 1951.

The Russians put alleged excerpts into wide circulation for propaganda purposes. They quoted his diary as containing such statements as:

"War! As soon as possible! Now! We must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt."

Michigan Demos For Stevenson

By JACK I. GREEN
CHICAGO — (AP) — Two members of Michigan's delegation to the Democratic convention predicted today that the Wolverine state would deliver the bulk of its votes to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois for the presidential nomination.

August C. Scholle, state CIO chairman, told newsmen that Stevenson would get a "large majority" of the 40-vote delegation when it drops its favorite son support of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

John J. Plas of Allen Park, the only man in the delegation to sport a Stevenson badge, said Stevenson would walk off with 35 of the votes.

Kefauver leaders denied the claims.

These remarks followed a new outbreak of the unit rule fight in the delegation as a dissident minority tried to break the unit rule imposed by the state convention.

None of the participants would concede that the unit rule fight had any bearing on the presidential line-up, however.

Supporters and opponents of the rule asserted they were fighting over a principle and were satisfied that the convention would nominate a "liberal" candidate agreeable to all.

But John Lanta of St. Clair Shores promised to appeal to the convention itself to remove the unit rule from Michigan the first time an attempt was made to vote under it.

Danta said that at the state convention "we were sold down the river. We were slickered into this and I won't stand for it."

Rebels Lose Appeal
A committee of the rebels lost an appeal to the convention rules committee yesterday in an attempt to upset the unit rule. They previously had lost an appeal to the convention parliamentarian, Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.).

Donald Monroe of Ontonagon, and Charles Wickert of Kalamazoo led a fight to have the delegation declare the unit rule was imposed by "gross error" at the state convention.

Truman Plans Early Decision On His Choice

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today promised his home state delegation an early decision on his choice of a Democratic presidential nominee and then turned to work on the "Give 'em Hell" speech he plans to make in Chicago later.

Just when he'll let his alternate, Tom J. Gavin, and the Missouri delegates know his preference for a successor was added to the list of White House secrets.

But presidential spokesmen acknowledged Truman talked by telephone yesterday with Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) and would not take issue with Hennings' statement to reporters in Chicago that the President would pass along the word today.

Watches Developments
The President kept up to the minute on convention proceedings through Press Association reports and his own television set. But there was every indication that he was several jumps ahead on every turn through telephone reports from his personal contact men at the convention.

Wherever there was a smoke-filled room, a Truman man was said to be in the thick of the smoke.

Truman has said repeatedly that he proposed to have his choice made known by his alternate when the latter casts his vote on the first ballot.

Hennings said Truman's first choice, given to Gavin in a letter, is no longer the man he now plans to endorse. Hennings deduced from the President's language that he originally planned to vote for Vice President Barkley, who withdrew from the contest Monday night.

In addition to voting on a nominee, the President faced another task: Giving the convention's ultimate selection the best sendoff possible.

Hunt Goes On For Hermit Sought In Oregon Slayings

CRATER LAKE, Ore. — (AP) — Police today resumed their hunt for a 67-year-old hermit in the slaying of a Detroit General Motors executive and a hunting companion.

The hermit, George Dunkin, has been sought by police for more than a month in the slaying of a state policeman.

However, authorities, also said a cold-blooded hold-up man may have been responsible for the shooting of C. P. Culhane, 55, General Motors sales manager of GM's United Motors Service Corp., and his companion, A. M. Jones, 56, of Concord, Calif., manager of the Berkeley, Calif., branch of the corporation.

The bodies of Culhane and Jones were found yesterday in this rugged mountainous National Park. Both had been shot through the head with a .32 calibre pistol.

Convicts Give Up 2 Hostages

BOSTON — (AP) — Forty-three prisoners, led by two life-term killers, released two hostages unharmed and surrendered early today about 15 hours after rioting at Massachusetts state prison in Charlestown and carrying themselves in the auto police shop.

Correction commissioner Maxwell B. Grossman said no promises were given to the prisoners and added, "they'll get the maximum (penalty)."

The two hostages, Cornelius Horgan, 41, and John Kerivan, prison employees, said they were swept into the three-story building to the top floor where the prisoners set up a barricade.

They said they were not harmed, bound or gagged by the prisoners. The hostages added that although they were allowed to move around rather freely in the room they spent a weary night and always felt in danger. The temperature in the barricaded shop was 100 degrees, they said.

The riot broke out about 1 p. m. EST, yesterday and ended about 4:15 a. m. EST, today.

Horgan and Kerivan said the prisoners gave them sandwiches, candy and cigarettes which they had taken from the prison canteen.

The prisoners, they said, had canned goods which they used for themselves.

Grossman gave special credit to the Rev. Edward T. Hartigan, prison Catholic chaplain, and credit to Warden John J. O'Brien and Deputy Warden John Blaney for "saving our officers whom you can see are upstanding Americans and for saving our prison industry and millions of dollars involved."

Grossman added that "Father Hartigan really spoke to the inmates in good priestly fashion and he was responsible, with O'Brien and Blaney, for saving our officers."

Evidence built up that Truman had decided to favor Vice President Barkley, who withdrew from the race dramatically after labor leaders told him he was too old at 74 to make the race. Barkley, who lashed out at these same leaders, gets a chance to tell the convention tonight how it ought to set about winning the November election.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers blasted his fellow labor leaders for forcing Barkley out of the race, accusing them of engaging in "small time political intrigue."

Gov. Stevenson Gains Strength For Nomination

By JACK BELL
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — (AP) — Party veterans regained control of the Democratic convention today and pointed their strategy toward a Stevenson-southern ticket for the November election.

If the party's "pros" have their way, that ticket might read: Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, for President; Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia for Vice President.

But if Russell proves more reluctant to become a second-place runner than Stevenson was to top the ticket, either Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama or Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas might be substituted for him.

This potential lineup emphasized a complete reversal of the trend which saw rampaging northern Democrats who like to style themselves as "liberals" grab convention control temporarily and try to shove down Dixie throats a party "loyalty" rule.

The northerners were thrown for a loss last night in a compromise — reportedly affected through White House influence — under which Dixie delegations unwilling to sign the loyalty oath could walk serenely around it and still participate fully in the convention.

Anti-Truman Group Seated
The northerners lost more ground when the convention's credentials committee voted 36 to 13 to seat a Texas delegation and 33 to 17 to seat a Mississippi group which had carried anti-Truman labels into the convention.

The northern coalition lost the ball on downs when convention platform drafters came up with a compromise version of a civil rights plank — not yet spelled out publicly.

They could regain the initiative only by a floor fight which looked unpromising. This fight would come on expected convention action today on the platform.

The upshot of all the back-stage maneuvering seemed to indicate that hard-headed party wheel-horses like Jacob M. Arvey of Illinois and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania had won a gigantic game of bluff.

This game, played through the traditional smoke-filled hotel rooms and the crudely-partitioned offices of this convention hall, involved an effort by a northern coalition of the party's bright and mostly young men to force through an all-out "Fair Deal" candidate and platform.

Evidence built up that Truman had decided to favor Vice President Barkley, who withdrew from the race dramatically after labor leaders told him he was too old at 74 to make the race. Barkley, who lashed out at these same leaders, gets a chance to tell the convention tonight how it ought to set about winning the November election.

Ruark Deplores Whimsy Killers

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — You arrive at a desperation point in penology when your attention is directed, in the same week, at a man who shoots a stranger to attract attention for a rejected thesis and a kid who shoots a Rabbi because the Rabbi was "a moving target."

The first man, Bayard Reakes is clearly insane, with a record of insanity behind him. His military record pointed to dementia praecox, a mental disease that gradually retrogrades the mind to a status of idocy, after it has run its course in the dangerous delusions of grandeur which lead Reakes to murder a little girl named Elsie Faney just to concentrate attention on himself.

Too late, they'll button Reakes away in the hatch, and let him toy with perpetual motion and life everlasting until the poor brain melts down a little more and finally reduces its owner to babbling babyhood. As a dementia patient, he should have been there all along, because dementia praecox is not a sometime thing, and the Army knew he had it.

They Kill 'Kos' "Fun"
But these two punks who police gunned the Rabbi to prove to each other that they weren't "chicken" are a different facet of our modern civilization. Obviously, the mentality is pretty low, but not insane so much as horribly irresponsible. The record of stickups and vagrancy and reform school is another thumb pointing in the direction of inevitable tragedy for the innocent bystander.

It is a harsh thing to say but the state may just as well save itself a lot of grief and trouble by waiting this pair up to the execution chamber now, if they are proved guilty, instead of sometime later. This 17-year-old Donald Ferrik and his pal, Edward Baldwin, comprise the perfect raw material for career thugs—just dumb enough to choose a profession of unsuccessful crime, just stupid enough to shoot their way out of an unimportant corner.

We probably take the pair now and send them to jail and in their peculiar way they are big shots, because they shot a stranger for fun. What they do not know of the mechanics of petty crime they will learn in the Big House. Young as they are they eventually get out, buy the pawnshop gun, and head for the nearest candy store for a delayed stick-up. Then Moersch, August Gafner.

Out of town people at the services included Martin Lutz, Milwaukee; Mrs. Donald Matthews, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Mittelstaedt.
The body will be shipped to Mauston, Wis., where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Mauston.

somebody else gets knocked off and this time the death penalty will likely be enforced.

Society Not At Fault
It has been popular to blame "society" for the antics of kill-crazy kids, but "society" also produces honest people of poor circumstance, people who do not shoot strangers through the head as a boyish prank. From the record so far you would just have to say that these punks are plain bad, poison mean, inhuman little animals who deserve no consideration, no clemency. Society didn't make them that way, either. The rottenness must dwell within a man who kills strangers for fun when the killer himself is not insane.

I used to study penology in the old college days and they had some pat and ready answers for all kinds of criminal infractions against the state. But I do not see how you can rehabilitate, a deteriorated brain in the case of Peakes, the crazy murderer, or the potential pinheadedness of the two fledglings who goaded each other into a state of murderous whimsy.

In the case of any one of them you must nearly dismiss the welfare of the transgressor and think only about the future security of nameless strangers. Life-long, inflexible imprisonment, subject to no commutation or parole, is the minimum precaution. In the case of the young killers capital punishment would not be undeserved—for the companion of the actual killer as well as the fuzzi-faced young bum who actually pulled the trigger.

On the pattern of useless violence over the last few years my personal sympathies have switched entirely from the causative pressures on the villain. They rest completely with the innocent corpse on the floor, and on the people he leaves behind to mourn him.

Farmers' Round-Up To Feature Timber Clinic August 1

At the 33rd Annual Farmer's Round-Up to be held Friday, August 1, at the U. P. Experiment Station, Chatham, demonstrations on how to scale logs and measure standing timber for sale have been arranged. These demonstrations will be conducted in the woodlot North of the Office Building by Frank Longwood, forester for the U. P. Experimental Forest at Dukes.

Longwood will also discuss when and how hardwood timber should be harvested to get the greatest financial return. He will measure and compare the value of different size trees, to show that greater financial return that can be obtained by letting trees grow until they reach economic maturity.

The forestry part of the Round-Up program will be of particular interest to those planning to harvest timber. In announcing the forestry program, Roy E. Sko, Michigan State College Extension Forester for the Upper Peninsula, stated that "Timber, in many ways, is like any other farm crop. Only if the owner knows how much timber he is selling, at what price, and when it brings the greatest return, can he be sure that he is getting the most money for his project."

Toll Of Rainstorm Damage Still Being Counted In Area

Storm-caused damages continued to be reported today after yesterday morning's thunder squall which blew through the area with 43 m. p. h. gusts of wind and fire-setting bolts of lightning.

Two farm animals were reported killed by lightning bolts Tuesday morning. A hog on the farm of Hulda Leppanen, Eben Junction, and a cow owned by Joseph Zryb of Bark River were counted in wake of the electrical storm.

The home and barn on the Zryb farm were also struck early Tuesday morning with considerable damage resulting.

Wind damaged the roof of a farm building on the Stephen Loch land in Perronville.

All the losses were covered by insurance.

A bolt of lightning in the Saturday morning storm struck the electrical wiring system of the Werner Vietzke home in Rapid River, burning out the electric element in the water heater, a number of fuse plugs and the yard light.

Boy Scout Activities Lead To Taxidermy

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Ira Griste, 23, is a taxidermist who got his interest in animals from his days as a Boy Scout.

Now many of the animals that die at the zoo as well as hunter's trophies end up in his shop for stuffing. Some of them go eventually into Fortune's Jungle Garden.

First he skins the animal, pickles and tans the hide and finally mounts them. The skin goes over a paper-mache form.

Soil Building Method Advised

Good grass-legume mixture for soil improvement must not be overlooked despite the fact it does not bring cash returns, J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, advises.

"The grass-legume mixtures are the keys to most soil conservation on farm land, because sod crops add home grown organic matter and nitrogen, reduce erosion and leaching losses, improve soil structure, and increase intake of water. Of course, productivity of the soil is also increased," the agricultural agent concluded.

The amount of grasses and legumes required for soil improvement depends on kind of soil, texture, topography and climate, according to L. J. Braamse of Michigan State College soil conservation department. Sandy and hilly soils usually require a larger percentage of land left in sod crops.

Thousands of acres of row crops still go over winter with little or no protection, J. L. Heirman pointed out, adding that there is great need for more complete cover crops and rotations which give more protection from wind and

Campaign To Bring Out Record Vote Seems Headed For Success

BETWEEN now and the primary election on Aug. 5, the League of Women Voters and the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce are cooperating in an united effort to bring out a record vote.

Actually, each of the two organizations is conducting a separate campaign but the objectives are the same. The Jaycees have

We've Had Enough Scare Campaigning

THE other day Averell Harriman, in a bit of post-GOP convention politicking, raised the specter of depression as a likely thing if General Eisenhower should be elected next fall. The country will be well served if that argument is never made again. To be sure, it is an old refrain, and the Democrats have been chanting it since 1932.

But politics by fear is not good politics—at any rate, not good for the American citizenry. Actually, campaigning of this sort falls into the category of desperation. It seems to say: "If you can't think of any other effective arguments, scare 'em to death."

The Republican party is not the party of economic depression, any more than the Democratic party is the party of war, though the regimes of each have corresponded with those two great catastrophes in the last 20 years.

No responsible Democrat ever blames former President Hoover for the 1930 depression any more, though many naturally insist emphatically that he did not meet that crisis well.

No sober-minded Republican blames the Democrats for the rise of Hitler, and for the war he launched upon the world. To charge any American political party with seeking to thrust us into war is to lunge toward the extremes of irresponsibility.

Haven't we had enough of scare-campaigning? No one familiar with our traditions expects our political candidates to make their appeals wholly calm and rational. Emotion and exaggeration are inevitably a part of campaign exhortations in this country. But to hold out the prospect of economic or military ruin as the alternative to the triumph of one candidate or the other is unforgivable demagoguery.

Give Us A Break Mr. Weather Man

RAIN, rain, go away, come again some other day.

Yes, we've had all the rain we need for any purpose—with plenty to spare. The water table is dangerously high. Basements are flooded in many of the low areas. Picnics and baseball games have been washed out. Crops are in danger of being flooded out.

When it isn't actually raining, the humidity is so high that even moderate temperatures seem unbearably hot.

We've had enough, Mr. Weather Man. Give us a couple of weeks of nice sunshine, not too hot, not too cold.

We aren't asking too much, are we? Give us a break!

In the old days when a man wanted a raise in pay, he'd fight with the boss for it—at least his wife told him to. Now he's got the problem of figuring out whether a fight with the boss is worth what he'll have left of the raise after the government takes its increased tax bite.

The Doctor Says . . .

It's Better to Prevent Burns Than to Have to Treat Them

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

About 8000 people lose their lives each year from burns and scalds in the United States alone. There are, of course, many others who suffer serious burns which may leave them disfigured, but from which they recover.

In the event of an atomic attack the question of burns would, of course, become even more important.

Flame, steam or even just an extremely hot surface injures the skin and produces a burn or a scald. The damage done depends on the surface involved, the amount of heat causing the injury, and the length of time during which the skin is in contact with the source of heat.

Hot solids or liquids are the most common causes of burns. Sliding down a rope, chemicals, electricity and such agents as ultraviolet lamps, X-rays and even sunshine are also responsible for some burns.

The depth of the injury in the underlying tissues is the basis for the classification of burns.

In first-degree burns there is merely some reddening of the skin similar to that of mild sunburn. Second-degree burns cause actual blistering of the skin; the skin over the blister is completely dead. Third degree burns involve not only the skin itself, but also the tissues lying beneath it which are killed and sometimes charred.

Prevention of burns is more important done excellent work in this field in past years but they welcome the assistance of the League of Women Voters in this year's program.

In fact, to what the public interest in their respective campaigns, the League and the Jaycees have entered into a friendly contest to see which group does the better job. The winner will be determined on election day and it will be based upon whether more men or more women exercise their voting franchise. The odds, we think, are somewhat against the women in this contest because we suspect that more men than women are ballot conscious.

Regardless of the outcome of the contest, the public will be the real winner. Only about half of the American voters go to the polls on election day, a sad reflection upon the value that Americans place on their ballot franchise. Both the League of Women Voters and the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce are trying to do something to improve this situation.

The brisk demand for absentee voters' ballots is indicative of the results that may be achieved as a result of this campaign. Nearly a hundred requests for such ballots have already been received at the city clerk's office here.

Congressmen And Members Of Parliament

CONGRESSMEN who sneaked in a nice pay increase for themselves in the closing hours of the last session should take a look at the salary schedule of their British counterpart, the members of Parliament.

A member of Parliament draws 1,000 pounds per year—the equivalent of $2,800. The greater part of his salary is absorbed by hotel costs, meals, postage, telegrams, phone calls, subscriptions—not to forget the tax collector.

Congressmen did not actually vote an increase in their salary, but they did vote a sizeable tax exemption to take care of their Washington expenses. And, of course, an American congressman draws in salary about five times that of the British member of Parliament.

One member of Parliament figured that after paying his expenses in London and his income tax, he had eight pounds ($22.40) left to maintain his home in Scotland.

ESCANABA DEBATES IT (Marinette Eagle Star)

The parking meter question has turned up in Escanaba again with a variety of arguments, pro and con, some of which don't hit the mark when it comes to debating the merits or demerits of the system.

We find the Escanaba Press saying "the most potent argument in favor of parking meters is that it provides a lush source of revenue for the city." But that's hardly a potent argument. Escanaba could realize between $10,000 and $15,000 a year from parking meters, but that is not the purpose of meters, or should not be.

The purpose of parking meters — leastwise it is the selling point — is that they provide funds with which to purchase off street parking lots. But that, too, presents problems. It is difficult to obtain good parking lots at a reasonable figure, as the Marinette City Council has found time and again.

Escanaba also finds the question of parallel and angle parking a disturbing factor in the debate. But it doesn't make much sense with outsiders. Ludington Street, the main thoroughfare in Escanaba, is one of the widest streets in the country. Angle parking could be provided and there still would be a lot of room for cars to back out from their parking space.

than treatment. All of us should remember the old adage that the burns child fears the fire and should avoid sources of burning.

For minor burns—except those caused by chemicals, X-rays, and unusual types of burning—treatment is a petroleum jelly or vaseline covered by a thin layer of sterile gauze.

For severe burns, including second and third-degree burns, the advice of a physician should be sought as soon as possible. Until he comes, it is wise not to do too much. Loose clothing should be cut away from the burned area, but if any is sticking, it should be left where it is.

WASH CHEMICAL BURNS

Large burned surfaces should not have greases, oils, or ointments put on them. These are difficult to remove, may produce pain, and often interfere with what the physician wishes to do later.

Neither absorbent cotton nor iodine should be applied to the burn. Cotton sticks and produce further harm when it has to be removed later.

The measures mentioned apply to almost all kinds of burns except those caused by chemicals. Most chemical burns are best treated by washing the area immediately and continuously with large quantities of water until all traces of the chemical have been removed.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO—The favorite occupation of this convention is quoting President Truman as to who he is for. There are half a dozen cabinet members here, plus a score of senators, plus certain highly placed Democratic bosses, plus two White House observers.

Some of them actually have access to the White House by telephone. Most of them don't. But from many you can get a whispered version of who the President wants or whom he doesn't want.

The situation is almost identical with the Chicago convention of 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt was en route by train to the West Coast, and when Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Kelly of Chicago and other party bosses undertook to tell the delegates who they should nominate as vice president. That was the memorable occasion when Hannegan, then national chairman, produced a letter listing first Senator Harry Truman then Justice William O. Douglas as FDR's preference for V. P.

It was not until some years that Grace Tully, FDR's personal secretary, told how that letter had been retyped at Hannegan's direction in order to put Truman's name ahead of Douglas's.

TRUMAN ON CANDIDATES
Today the man who benefitted by that switch of names is in the White House, with the power to influence, perhaps pick, his successor. Here is a summary of how he is a summary of how he seems to be reacting:

In regular staff meetings, the President has played his political cards close to his chest. Never has he disclosed his hand regarding a possible successor.

To a few extremely close advisers, however, he finally indicated that he would favor Averell Harriman, because of Harriman's 100 per cent support of the New Fair deal program. This was about two weeks before the convention.

When this word leaked out, however, Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney urged the President to reverse himself and take Vice President Alben Barkley instead. McKinney is reported to have warned that the party would be split wide open if anyone as controversial on the race question were nominated, and that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower could easily carry the south.

Several other Southern Democrats whom the President trusts, made similar representations, and following this, Truman is reported to have given the word to McKinney that he could promote the Vice President's candidacy.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman still looks with favor on Harriman, also has no objection to Estes Kefauver, despite the fact that he has long been miffed at the Tennessee senator for the personal trouncing he gave the President in New Hampshire.

He is definitely thumbs down on Senators Robert S. Kerr and Richard B. Russell, however, and he has been miffed at Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for being so aloof, though he still regards Stevenson as an excellent man.

That's about the way the President's variegated views have been expressed to intimates as the Democratic convention nears the voting stage.

BEHIND T-H. STATEMENT
Sen. Dick Russell's denial that John L. Lewis influenced him in making his statement for revision of the Taft-Hartley Act doesn't quite tell all the story.

What happened was that the senator from Georgia had dinner with Chicago boss Jake Arvey about ten days before the convention at which Dick put in a bid for Illinois' big bloc of delegates. Arvey, a diplomat, tried to let Russell down easily by explaining that his anti-labor record would be poison to the big-city wing of the party—especially his support of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Later Russell related this to his public relations adviser, David Charney, who also represents John L. Lewis. Lewis then concocted a statement, and slipped it to the Georgia senator through Charney. It may well be that Dick Russell didn't realize that it had come from Lewis, though he did have a luncheon with Lewis.

Note 1—In addition to the rage of Virginia delegates, Atlanta banker Freeman Strickland, treasurer of Russell's campaign, began burning up the wires to Chicago, told Dick that Southern textile manufacturers were betrayed. Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge also raised Cain with Russell, was one of those who forced him to backtrack.

Note 2—Charney, one of the best public relations men in the business, was cross-examined by the Kefauver committee, because of alleged links with Frankie Costello. Kefauver probes found that he had never been the paid representative of Costello, though he had written favorable stories about him and was the applicant for the Copacabana Club's liquor license, a night spot established by some of Costello's friends from Saratoga.

Political observers considered it more than a coincidence that Charney should now be working for Sen. Russell as part of the stop-Kefauver campaign. Russell probably knew nothing about his background.

Its Official Now: The Cocktail Corps Approves Jap Peace Treaty

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA)— It's really official now.

And new Japanese Ambassador Eiichi Araki is one of the most relieved men in town, although he had a couple of nervous hours the other afternoon.

Japan is back in the old international fold.

As is generally recognized in this world capital, the Senate can ratify a dozen treaties and the diplomats can scratch their signatures on two leagues of good bond paper. But unless Washington society rules that a country's liquor is fit for drink! for the other formalities don't count.

That's what had Ambassador Araki so worried when he sent out invitations for the first party in the Japanese embassy since some time before what is now known as Pearl Harbor Day.

The Japanese embassy was in the news last when a smart photographer caught the staff burning some papers outside of it on Dec. 7, 1941. The Swiss took care of the luxurious building overlooking picturesque Rock Creek Park during the war. And the Far East Commission has had it since then.

The new ambassador, who went to college in the U. S. before the war and who is an important banker in his own country, had to sweat out the whole affair practically by himself.

He is a widower, and his daughter, Tomiko, who is only 21, is considered too young by Japanese standards to have any part in such parties. The wife of one of the staff members acts as his official hostess.

Had Araki been briefed on the standard Washington cocktail party routine, his pre-party ordeal wouldn't have been so trying. As it was, some time about an hour after the shindig was to have gotten under way, the first guests arrived. That's actually normal.

Even the arrival of the first batch of thirsty guests didn't allay all of his fears. Very first to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. John Steelman. He is the Assistant President and more or less has to go to such affairs. Following him was the official State Department cocktail party battalion who have to go, with no more or less about it.

Then, however, things started to look up. The dean of the diplomatic corps, Ambassador Munthe de Morgenstjerne of Norway arrived. After that Araki knew he was a social shoo-in. The generals, admirals, Supreme Court justices, cabinet members, dowagers and just plain crashers showed up.

With high good humor at the way things were suddenly going, Araki wandered among the festive guests, explaining that the reason native Japanese dishes weren't being served was because of the weather. Too perishable in the heat.

He invited everybody there to another party, late in the Fall, for which he promises the real thing, including hot saki and at least seven different kinds of raw fish.

During the long gay evening no person was tactless enough to bring up the recent armed misunderstanding which temporarily put Japan out of the social club. No Russian representatives showed up, but then nobody seemed to miss them, either.

On the whole, the party was a tremendous success. The last guest staggered out some time around midnight, which is the real test here for a party that is supposed to be over at seven.

It was the consensus of the guests that the liquor, food and hospitality all measured up to Washington standards and that any time Araki wants to try it again, they're willing to do their part.

And bygones are officially bygones.

Farms Go Self-Service With New Honor System

NEA Service Writer

FAIRHAVEN, Mass.—(NEA)— The neatly-printed "self-service" sign at the Roselawn Poultry Farm's roadstand means exactly what it says—even when it comes to using the cash box.

Putting his customers strictly on the "honor system," proprietor Albert M. Gonsalves lets them drive up, enter, select their purchases, leave their money in the cash box and depart. If necessary, they even make their own change—all without anyone around to watch them.

So far, despite the temptations offered, no appreciable shortages have ever been discovered, either in products or money. Sometimes, there'll be a penny or two short at the end of the day, but just as many other times there'll be a penny or two over.

This Gonsalves attributes to the inability of some customers to count out their change properly. All goods are prepared for sale beforehand. Poultry is dressed and kept in a freezer. Eggs are price marked in individual containers, and garden vegetables are put in sacks. All the customer has to do is make his selection and pay for it. If he wants to weigh something, he can do that, too.

The stand is now a large operation, with receipts equivalent to those of a good-sized grocery. Local competitors flock to look it over.

All items come from the large Gonsalves farm, which contains 4000 laying hens, 5000 growing birds and a large assortment of crops.

Farmer Gonsalves isn't surprised at the success of his "honor system."

"Most people have basic honorable qualities," he says, "When left to themselves, their sense of honor and pride prevents them from overstepping the line, even when temptation is at its greatest, as it is here."

To lessen the "temptation" he talks about, Gonsalves goes down to the stand once or twice a day to relieve the cash box of bills of larger denominations.

Otherwise, it's completely "hands off" from a vigilance angle—which would certainly have startled Diogenes.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

REVIVING THE PAST — When residents and former residents of the Rapid River area gather Sunday afternoon, July 27, for their historical picnic and homecoming, you will hear considerable talk about the "old days."

And certain to be mentioned in the conversation will be Peacock's Point, now better known as Garth, and one of the county's popular resort areas.

Perhaps the person who knows as much about the old days at Peacock's point as anyone is Mrs. Mary "Nickie" Archambeau of 107 South Ninth St., Gladstone, who was born there 72 years ago.

She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Rogers, and she lived there until she was nine years old when the Rogers moved to Masonville.

A NAME IS CHANGED — Abraham Rogers was a walking boss, later millwright, for the Peacock Lumber Company. Her father and mother were married at Peacock's Point, with her mother coming to Michigan from Fond du Lac, Wisconsin.

"After the Peacocks left the point the Garth Lumber Company took over and now you almost never hear anyone mention the name Peacock anymore," Mrs. Archambeau told me.

What about the Peacocks? Did the family live there? Yes, says Mrs. Archambeau. There was Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peacock and their four children, Kate, Carrie, Dan and Harry.

If the Peacocks ever owned a jewelry store in Chicago, according to one version of the story, Mrs. Archambeau does not know of it. She doubts they did.

TELLING THE STORY — In talking with Mrs. Archambeau we forgot to ask other questions. What about the story of the ruby brooch? And was there a fifth child, older than Kate, who drowned?

Kate (now Mrs. James Finnegan) returned to Escanaba some five or six years ago and visited old friends here while passing through.

We know that Mrs. Theodore Farrell of Escanaba would have been able to tell us more about the Peacocks, but she was apparently out of the city for we could not contact her.

But more complete information about one phase of the Rapid River history no doubt will be presented next Sunday at the history picnic at Rapid River Falls Park.

SETTING IT STRAIGHT — Several weeks ago in writing about Delta county's "ghost towns" (including Peacock's Point) we mentioned a town called New Minneapolis that existed only on paper.

In this connection we received the following letter from Ned Short of Rapid River:

"I think your location of New Minneapolis was wrongly stated. It lies in Sec. 12 of T-40 N., R-19 W., which puts it about three miles north of Nahma and three and three-quarter miles east of Nahma — rather than northwest of Nahma."

We stand corrected. But whatever the location, New Minneapolis boomed only on paper and the bubble broke before one building was constructed.

FAMILY AFFAIR — Undoubtedly the Ned Shorts of Rapid River will attend the history picnic and homecoming next Sunday afternoon.

The event will attract many families of the area who will find a double attraction in the program: 1—There is the opportunity for a family outing in pleasant surroundings; 2—Friends and neighbors will be there to join in recounting the story of the old days.

Walt Peters of Rapid River is general chairman of the event and he is being assisted by a large number of persons in the community. Assisting in planning the program is the Delta County Historical Society.

Lebanon Suppresses Anti-Jewish Film

BEIRUT, Lebanon —(AP)—An anti-Jewish movie filmed in Germany has been banned in Lebanon even though this country still is at war with the Jewish state of Israel to the south.

The film, "Jude Suss," portrays a Jewish character who, by intrigue and treachery, gains control of an entire state. A Beirut theater asked permission to show the film here. The government board of censorship approved the film's showing, but the Ministry of Interior intervened and forbade its presentation.

Banning of the film is the latest in a series of actions whereby the Lebanese government has protected its Jewish minority.

Benton Assails GOP Platform

CHICAGO — (AP) — Sen. William Benton went before the Democratic Convention last night to assail the Republicans' 1952 platform as a "mumbo jumbo of empty words" preaching peace but seeking war.

"I do not deny," said the Connecticut lawmaker, "that we Democrats have made mistakes, plenty of them. I even concede that we are going—unhappily—to make plenty more."

"But the overall record of the Democratic party in the last 20 years x x x is a record of courage and action, of faith and achievement."

Rayburn Talks Tonight

Benton addressed the delegates on a reshuffled program which left little but speechmaking. In a last-minute effort to avert controversy, scheduled reports from the rules and credentials committees were postponed until today.

The principal address, that of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, was also deferred. Until the rules report is turned in, Rayburn can not take over as permanent chairman and make his speech of acceptance. This is now scheduled for tonight.

Benton introduced and had passed a resolution thanking Gov. Paul A. Revere of Massachusetts for his rallying keynote address Monday night.

He said Revere showed the GOP platform, adopted two weeks ago, was "a mumbo jumbo of empty words x x x political appeasement x x x cynical and without principle."

Mrs. Roosevelt Talks

He said it proposed in effect: "Let us have peace by extending the war."

On corruption-in-government, a prime target of GOP attacks, Benton said business men who give bribes are as guilty as people who accept them. "Pressures to debate the tax laws on behalf of the oil and other lobbies" constitute corruption too, he said.

Sharing the rostrum with Benton were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, widow of the late president, and Mrs. India Edwards, Democratic national committee vice chairman.

Mrs. Edwards, who lost her first husband in the first World War and her only son in the second, declared no speaker at the Republican convention paid tribute to the men fighting in Korea.

"No," she said, "you heard that those who have died have died in vain. x x x do not listen to those who would make you feel that your sons have been killed in a useless war. The Korean war is the least useless war in our history."

Lewis Assails Labor Leaders, Defends Barkley

Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois now appears to be the front-runner despite his avowed reluctance to enter the contest.

And it served to uncover these other reports:

1. That Barkley came to the convention with some reason to believe that he was the favorite of President Truman and those around him.

2. That Reuther, Harrison, Kroll and some other union leaders were working closely with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Averell Harriman of New York in convention maneuvers.

3. That Lewis had pledged Barkley his support prior to the convention and assumed that the Kentuckian would be acceptable to other labor leaders because of his long record in support of labor.

4. That a White House meeting on Sunday, July 13, had left Barkley boosters with the impression the vice president was more acceptable to Truman than any other avowed candidates (not including Stevenson).

5. That Reuther and other labor leaders met in Room 1106 at the Conrad Hilton Sunday night with Kefauver, Harriman and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.—and that a short time later it was announced that labor had turned thumbs down on Barkley.

Michigan Demos For Stevenson

This resulted from Cannon's decision that the rule could only be challenged on the grounds of fraud or "grievous error."

Scholle took the lead in beating them down, arguing that "I am not going to indict," Neil Staebler, the Democratic chairman. "I am not going to see him accused to cover our own faults. We should have been on the alert at the convention."

Alfonse A. Magnotta of Albion contended that the rule was illegally included in the report of the committee on permanent organization of the state convention.

Scholle persuaded the delegates to send another committee to argue with the rules committee, headed by U. S. Senator Moody of Michigan.

'Windmills' in Historic Flight Across Atlantic

An historic step in trans-oceanic flight is the aim of the trans-Atlantic flight of two Air Force Sikorsky H-19 helicopters, like the one seen at left. The scheduled route of the Military Air Transport craft, from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to Wiesbaden, Germany, is shown on map above. The two H-19's will be delivered to the 9th Air Rescue Squadron in Germany. Purpose of the flight is to "prove the feasibility and economy of air delivery to Europe of helicopters." Air Force estimates the flying time for the approximately 4000-mile flight to be about 40 hours. The H-19 has a normal ferrying range, with auxiliary tanks, of about 1000 miles. Longest overwater hop on the route is the 817 miles from Iceland to Scotland.

No Trace Found Of Escaped Prisoners

GRAND HAVEN — (AP) — Search for two escaped prisoners from the Ionia state reformatory centered here Tuesday night but early today police said no trace of the men had been found.

Two men answering the descriptions of Michael Gesondi, Flint, and Harold H. Hummel, Detroit, were reported seen twice in this area early Tuesday evening.

Gesondi and Hummel cut through window bars Monday, lowered themselves 25 feet to the ground and fled under gunfire after scaling a prison wall.

This will come in the form of one of his "Give 'em Hell" speeches attacking the Republicans.

It is for this speech, to be delivered in Chicago following the nomination, that he assembled information. The White House was uncertain whether he would have a prepared manuscript or speak from notes.

Truman later plans to stump the country for the Democratic nominee and has made it clear that the offer covers any and all candidates.

His political associates will go no further than to say he is prepared to make a fight for the election of Governor Stevenson of Illinois, for whom a boom is underway, but emphasized he is willing to put up a fight for any other nominee selected.

Crop Growth Aided By Good Rainfall

LANSING — (AP) — A good fall of rain over most of the state helped growing crops during the past week, the federal-state crop reporting service said today.

Some wheat and rye had been cut in almost all sections of the Lower Peninsula. Yields were good and test weights high.

The early cut harvest continued in southern counties but was stopped by weekend rains. An infestation of army worms was reported causing damage to oats, barley and pastures in the north-west part of the Lower Peninsula.

In the north, some of the first cutting of hay was delayed by rains during the past two weeks. Second cutting of hay was nearly ready in the south. Pastures were coming back in good shape following rains.

Danish Freighter Sinks In Kattegat

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — (AP) — Ships and aircraft scoured the narrow waters between Denmark and Sweden today searching for 18 passengers and crewmen missing from the capsized 1,100-ton Danish freighter Portland.

Heavy seas hampered the operations. The Portland went down last night in the Kattegat—the strait between Denmark and Sweden. Maritime sources here speculated that she may have struck a floating World War II mine.

Three crew members were rescued by the German freighter Neuende. Three women passengers and the remaining 15 crewmen were listed as missing.

KILLED BY TRACTOR
ITHACA, Mich. — (AP) — Harry Shirley, 40, was killed on his father's farm here Tuesday afternoon when a tractor overturned, crushing him to death.

The fire at the Iroquois theater, Chicago, occurred during the matinee performance on Dec. 30, 1903, with a loss of 602 lives.

Gov. Stevenson Gains Strength For Nomination

Stevenson was regarded as nearer the Presidential nomination than ever before, if only for the reason that it had been indicated Truman's influence would not be scale-tipping.

Truman originally favored Stevenson but the Illinois governor was reported cool toward any administration endorsement.

Stevenson, widely advertised as available for a draft despite his repeated protests that he is running only for re-election in Illinois, picked up significant strength.

Michigan For Stevenson?
Illinois raced up 46 of its 60 votes for him, with 11 votes unrecorded because the holders were missing from a caucus.

New Jersey delegates promised his 23½ votes. Indiana delegates said he could have 17 of their 26 votes. Former Sen. Prentiss Brown predicted most of Michigan's 40 will be for Stevenson on an early—if not the first—ballot.

This lineup, added to Pennsylvania and other support for the Illinois governor, had Kefauver and Harriman conferring desperately in an effort to spark a stop-Stevenson move.

The latest Associated Press tabulation of delegates showed:
Kefauver 262
Russell 164½
Stevenson 148
Harriman 104
Others 261½
Uncommitted 290.

Needed to nominate: 615½.
Although no announcements were forthcoming, Kefauver's aides were betting that the Tennessee senator would wind up with the backing of the Harriman group. But there was a large measure of doubt that Harriman could throw any worthwhile strength to the Tennesseean. And Harriman was maintaining he is in the race to the finish.

This group included Sens. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Blair Moody of Michigan and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, W. Averell Harriman and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

President Intervenes
They bluffed that they were willing to have southern delegations take a walk—with all the general election trouble that could cause—to get what they call a "liberal" candidate and platform.

But with the help of the southern delegations who refused any advance loyalty pledge until they see the nominee and the platform, the Arveys and the Lawrences seemed to have convinced most delegates that the only way the Democrats can win is to keep the South solid in the party column.

Strangely enough, their victory seemed to have been accomplished through the indirect intervention of President Truman—who has been calling for all-out endorsement of his "Fair Deal" program and for a strong civil rights plank.

Moody told a reporter that as a result of a telephone call from Charles Murphy, the President's legal counsel, he had agreed to add a proviso to the loyalty rule adopted by the convention in a voice vote at a stormy after-midnight session yesterday.

This rule provided that delegation chairmen must certify that their members would work toward getting the names of the convention's presidential and vice presidential nominees on the November ballots in their states.

Moody Defends Compromise
To this Moody added the provision that no delegate would be forced to sign the pledge if it ran against his state's laws or party organization rules.

Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia delegations had refused to sign up because they said their states had made provision to decide later what to do about the national nominee.

Heads of the delegations announced they were sitting tight, darning the convention to throw them out.

Moody contended the original rule wasn't weakened. But the southerners regarded it as a compromise in their favor.

National Chairman Frank McKinney told a reporter he thinks the compromise will avoid a floor fight.

Although Truman's influence was felt in this case, there didn't seem to be much left for him to do in the nomination race except to endorse Stevenson. Sen. Thomas Hennings of Missouri said he expected some word from Truman later in the day.

In its present temper, the convention seemed unlikely to be swayed very far by a presidential nod to any of the candidates. This might be indicative of what is in store for future presidents under similar circumstances, since they will be limited to two terms hereafter.

Water Pollution Charged Against 3 Peninsula Cities

LANSING — (AP) — Stream pollution cleanup orders were issued to several out-state cities and villages at the meeting of the State Water Resources Commission here yesterday.

Ironwood city officials were ordered to appear before the commission Aug. 20 to show cause why they should not end the pollution of the Montreal River there by Dec. 3, 1953.

Officials from the village of Houghton and the city of Hancock, both accused of polluting Portage Lake, were ordered to appear at the Sept. 23 meeting. Both will be asked to submit plans by Dec. 1, 1954, and end present pollution by June 1, 1956.

On August 20 hearing date was set for East Ann Arbor, charged with polluting the Pittsfield-Ann Arbor drain. The city will be asked to cease pollution by Dec. 31, 1954.

The commission adopted an order directing the city of Farmington to cease polluting the upper branch of the Rouge River by June 1, 1954.

Stocks Display Quiet Advance

By RADAR WINGET
NEW YORK — (AP) — A quiet advance was staged today in the Stock Market.

Price changes were limited to a little better than a point either way with the upside a bit more crowded.

Shares in the oil division appeared to have a greater than average amount of buying demand with Standard Oil of California up around a point. It gained 2½ yesterday.

On the downside were such issues as Union Pacific and Caterpillar Tractor, off more than a point.

Steels and motors were quietly mixed an eighth or so either way. Both were somewhat subdued yesterday while most other major groups made progress.

Higher stocks included Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (N. J.), Johns-Manville, Du Pont, Westinghouse Electric, and Boeing. Lower were Studebaker, Goodyear, Union Carbide, and Phelps Dodge.

The Stock Market yesterday was higher but volume was curtailed at a unusually low 910,000 shares.

Corporate bonds today were mixed at the start.

for getting industrial production under way when the strike ends. Priority will be given defense orders.

Six-Point Formula
The six-point formula, announced by the National Production Authority (NPA) and expected to be adopted with little change, calls for:

1. All military orders accepted for delivery through November to be filled by Nov. 30, if the strike ends in time.

2. Military orders on which delivery is needed by Oct. 1 to be pushed under mandatory priority directives to the mills.

3. NPA to require each mill, starting Oct. 1, to earmark a specific tonnage of its output solely for the military and atomic energy programs to prevent overloading of a few mills with defense orders and creating local shortages for civilian use.

4. Tightening of inventory controls to prevent any hoarding of steel.

5. No change in the programmed allocations of steel for the fourth quarter of this year, but adjustments to be made in the January-March quarter of 1953 for those who cannot get the allotment tickets honored this year because of the shortage of metal.

6. Allotments of steel for fourth quarter delivery to be made valid for delivery as late as January or February next year.

Mexican Red Tape Ties Up Rayon Mill

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — A rayon mill here is seeking a court order to force the government to let it start up its machines.

The company's petition told this story:

The government says the mill can't run because its machines are not the latest type.

The machines were up-to-date when the millowners first asked for the government okay — two years ago.

The government took so long to give the go-ahead, the machines now are obsolete.

But the mill wants to start them anyway.

Ike Discusses GOP Strategy

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower arranged to talk campaign strategy today with three key supporters at his vacation ranch in the Rocky Mountains.

And the three may join the Republican presidential nominee in a bit of trout fishing after the conference.

They are Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania; Ralph C. Gifford, national committeeman from Oregon; and Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado.

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, was accompanying the trio to the cattle ranch near Fraser, Colo., where Eisenhower has been vacationing since last Thursday. The party planned to drive from Denver, 72 miles east of Nielsen, an old friend who owns the ranch, have been cooking their own meals at the hideaway.

Today's visitors, traveling with a group of newsmen from Eisenhower's Denver headquarters, were to be the first the General has had at the ranch from the political world.

However, he has been in touch daily by telephone with his headquarters staff.

The General will confer at the ranch Sunday with his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Later next week Eisenhower may meet, probably in Denver, with Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who agreed yesterday to serve as the General's political chief of staff. Adams

Intoxicated Driver Given Jail Or Fine

Two offenders, one charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants and the other with being drunk and disorderly, were confined to county jail this morning on default of fines and costs ordered by Justice Oliver Estenson in arraignment at Gladstone.

The men Clarence J. Beaudry, 32, (driving while under alcoholic influence) and Emanuel Tardiff, 58, (drunk and disorderly), both of Nahma, were arrested by Gladstone State Police last night.

After pleading guilty in arraignment, they were given alternate sentences. Beaudry was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $6.70 or to be confined for 30 days. His operator's license was revoked. Tardiff, a passenger in his car, was committed to jail for seven days on default of payment of imposed fine of $5 and costs of $6.70.

A second charge of improper use of license plates brought another jail term of three days to Beaudry after he indicated inability to pay court costs of $4.30 on the count.

I HAVE A VITAL MESSAGE TO YOU WHO SUFFER FROM ARTHRITIS

"I suffered 15 years with rheumatism and arthritis," says Mr. William Anderson, 2324 N. Woodward, Royal Oak, Michigan. "Thanks to O-JIB-WA BITTERS, I am now entirely better and wish to tell others about this truly amazing medicine."
"My arthritis began 15 years ago back in England when I injured my arm several times while playing tennis and cricket. At one time, I could not bend my fingers or lift my arm. After the war, I had to quit my occupation as a hotel manager because of such painful suffering. I believe that I would have been a cripple if I had babied my arm, but I worked it even when it hurt. I came to this country five years ago, and tried every kind of medicine I heard of, but with no results at all, until I happened to try O-JIB-WA BITTERS. In my youth, I studied to be a chemist and know the value of herbs, and knew that O-JIB-WA was not a dope or just a pain killer. In just about two weeks I could see results. The pains became less severe and the stiffness seemed to be working itself out. It seemed like a miracle, for in hardly no time at all, my arm and fingers were absolutely free of all pain and stiffness. I really feel sorry for anyone who suffers as much as I have in the past, and earnestly and deep down wish to recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS to anyone who suffers with rheumatism and arthritis, as it is truly a great medicine."

Auto Output Will Be Heavy

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor
DETROIT (AP)—Despite new model planning the auto makers still have a substantial volume of 1952 cars to produce.

Some car manufacturers were only slightly more than half way through their 1952 model year when the steel strike stopped their assembly lines. Some others had only a month or two to go.

Generally the various companies will complete the 1952 model run as originally planned. In most instances they will do it without cutting back on original 1952 model schedules.

Can Absorb Deficits

Output volume of the different car companies is fixed by governmental allocations. But there is no stipulation that the quota allowed for a specific month must be produced in that month.

Thus July and August production shortages can be carried over into later months. With the output capacity it has available the industry easily could absorb the July and August deficits by mid-October—unless further emergency restrictions are placed upon auto industry steel consumption.

One conviction of industry experts is that the industry will get back into full scale production more rapidly than generally is expected. Ever since the steel strike began the car makers have been hunting steel in the far corners of the earth.

And the planning for the use of "conversion" steel—steel the auto industry buys in one form and has converted into another—has been going forward on a scale never before attempted by the car makers.

Of course the use of steel bought in ingots, blooms, slabs and other forms for conversion into sheets and bars, adds greatly to production costs. But every manufacturer right now feels he has a competitive position to maintain. So the hunt for steel has been pressed with unusual effort by the motor vehicle company purchasing departments.

While this has been going on the auto manufacturers have been checking on inventories of their supplier companies. The suppliers, too, have to be prepared to function before car and truck assembly lines again can roll out vehicles at their accustomed rate.

Heavy Production

But regardless of details harassing the auto makers because of the steel tie-up the industry will build a lot of new cars and trucks before the year end. It still is possible the July-December period will see the production of more than two million passenger cars and 635,000 (T) trucks.

These figures almost match the output volume of the year's first six months. They would be slightly less than the auto builders hoped to turn out but they take into consideration the interruptions that must come from new model change-overs. These changeovers will start within a few weeks and run through January.

The design of the new models was finalized many months ago;

the stylists and the car company engineers now are working on 1954 and 1955 models. In most instances all the engineering tests involving 1953 models have been completed.

Frank Praznik, Trenary, Awarded Bronze Star Medal

The Bronze Star for meritorious service to the U. S. Army was awarded yesterday to Sgt. Frank Praznik of Trenary.

The award, presented to Praznik at his home by Capt. Clain Smith of the Escanaba recruiting office, pays tribute to Infantryman Praznik who "distinguished himself by meritorious service during the period between 12 April 1951 and 30 January 1951."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Praznik of Trenary. A Korean veteran, he was recently discharged from Army service.

During his service career he was a rifleman, wireman and a first sergeant in the field.

"As field first sergeant," the award reads, "he was in charge of enlisted personnel while they were in position on the line and he coordinated the efforts of the personnel at the command posts to keep the front line units continuously supplied with the essentials they required."

"The thorough manner in which he always performed his duties marked him as an exceptional leader and soldier. Throughout his entire period of service, Sergeant Praznik demonstrated superior personal attribute and these, coupled with his conscientious application and zealous devotion to duty, were direct contributions to the successful pursuit of the combat mission of 7th Infantry Division in Korea," the citation concludes.

Ice Cream Social 'Lucky Date' Returns To St. Thomas Parish

IN JULY, 1951, as flood waters receded, street in front of St. Thomas Church in the Armourdale district of Kansas City, Kans., looked like this. High water mark shows on church door.

IN JULY, 1952, St. Thomas parish was still cleaning up flood damage. But this time, on traditional second Tuesday, no rains came, and 30-year-old ice cream social was back in business.

By MARY C. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent
KANSAS CITY, Kans.—(NEA)—For 30 consecutive years the ice cream socials sponsored by the parish of St. Thomas Catholic Church were held outdoors on schedule without postponement due to rain.

The traditional "rainless" date was the third Tuesday of July. That is, it was rainless until 1950 when a torrential downpour drove the event indoors. Booths hurriedly were moved from the playgrounds to the church basement.

Twenty-two feet of flood water rolled onto the St. Thomas playgrounds on Friday, July 13, 1951. On the following Tuesday, when the annual social was to be held, at least nine feet of water remained on the social site.

The 250 families belonging to St. Thomas Church were among the 5000 driven from their homes in the Armourdale district by the flood.

Now 90 of the 250 families have moved back to Armourdale and have enthusiastically revived their annual ice cream social, which always draws crowds into the thousands.

Several weeks ago a parish committee set July 22 as the date of this year's social. Later, when it was realized July 22 is the fourth Tuesday of the month, the date promptly was changed—to the third Tuesday.

"It's our lucky date," commented the young pastor, the Rev. Paul Grueter, with a smile.

And July 15, 1952, was a lucky date once more—cloudy and cool but no rain in sight.

William A. King, who was a member of St. Thomas parish from 1897 and whose home was destroyed by the flood, helped out

Cite Ways To Cut Farm Mishaps

EAST LANSING—"If every person on Michigan farms will eliminate several known hazards and unsafe practices, 50 or more people in the state may be saved from accidental death," David G. Steinicke, Michigan State College safety specialist, predicted today.

He further said that "thousands of others can be saved from being scarred, maimed or crippled for life and from spending needed money for costly treatment."

Steinicke cited statistics which show that one-fourth of the persons who are killed at work are killed on farms.

In 1950, 75 persons were killed in farm accidents and in 1951, deaths due to farm accidents increased to 81. Fires, falls, machinery and livestock cause nine out of ten fatal accidents on Michigan farms, he said and added, "most of these accidents are preventable or avoidable."

Steinicke made several suggestions for reducing accidents. "You are less apt to be hurt by an accident when you are physically and mentally alert," he said. Get a good night's rest every night. Plan farm work to avoid tensions.

Don't work until you are exhausted, the farm safety specialist advised. Get some rest and recreation, eat three good, regular meals a day and cover your head when you are in the sun. Drink plenty of cool water.

"Tired, hurried, irritated, nervous, hungry and faint people are the ones to whom most accidents occur," Steinicke summarized.

Girls who have no trouble with kid brothers are girls who have no kid brothers. If a girl has a little demon around the house, chances are he'll kick up plenty of fuss.

Patient little gentlemen do not pull Sis by the pigtails when they get mad at her. They bide their time—gather up an old frog or a dead mouse or even a live lobster and bury it in her bedsheets. This type of torture is considered much more effective by this particular breed of brother than any other plan, and he can get satisfaction from sister's reaction whether it is a little squeal or big screech.

Little brothers fall into one of two categories: patient and impatient.

The "impatient" little imp is a swindler at heart. He believes in the pay-off method and will sell out for dimes or dollars instead of a trip to the circus in the future. He'll take his bird in hand. This little brother who loves hush money pops up everywhere... for instance...

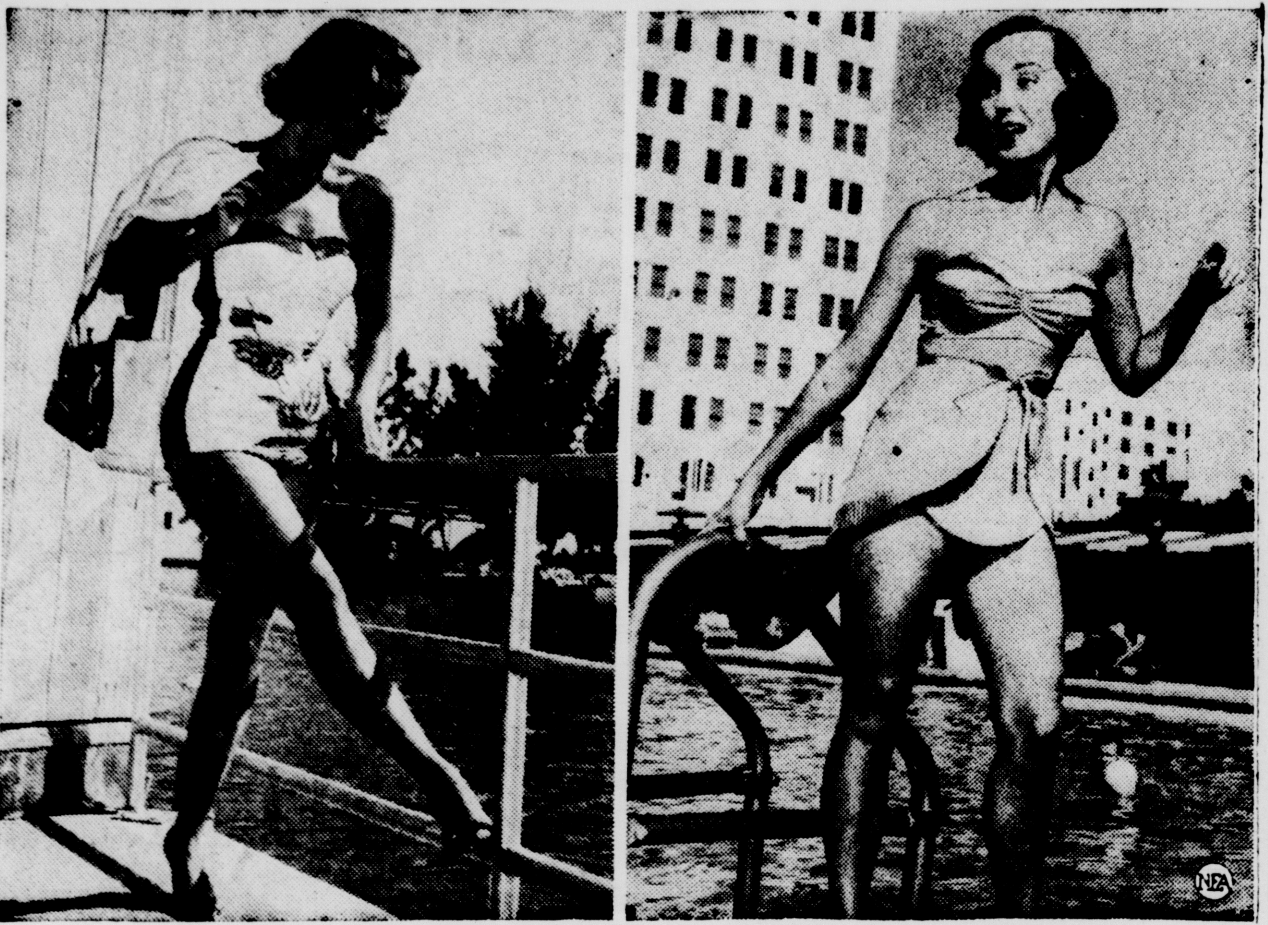

1. When Sis is wearing lipstick against the family's wishes.
2. When she is at the Saturday or Sunday movie matinee with a date when she is supposed to be at Mary's house.

3. In the corridor when her boy friend is bidding her good night.
4. He's behind the sofa or with his ear at the door when the gang is in for a dance session.

Smart little pests collect twice on the same deal. They get Sis to smooth their palms before a date arrives, and then hang around until the boy shells out. A date who comes to the house prepared with jelly-beans or ice-cream is in for trouble. Little Johnny wants cash, and he won't settle for peanuts.

Sometimes these little goons will make you so mad you'd like to catch them in a butterfly net and paste them to a wall like a decal. But there is seldom a young brother who doesn't have the loving protection of Mom, Pop and all the aunts. His halo fairly whirls when other members of the family are present, and if there are complaints from the one he has singled out for intensive

Beach Wear Has a Costume Look

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The costume look in swim suits is showing up on beaches everywhere this summer. Its attractions are many. With it, it's possible to make one swim suit serve the purpose of several—as, for example, when a brief cape also doubles as an over-skirt.

The costume look may very well include a brief jacket, a three-quarter length coat, a tiny shrug sweater, a stole or a cape. Whatever the styling, the pieces are assembled into an harmonious and useful whole, intended to give a maximum of protection from sun, breezes and salt spray.

The one-piece suit (left) has a dramatic anthurium design for a splash of color. This color repeats on the matching jacket. Both pieces are done in a satiny rayon-and-nylon fabric that's quick to dry. The suit has sleek lines and a cuffed top.

A costume look is achieved (right) in this three-piece suit through use of a tiny cape with permanent pleated edge that doubles here as wrap-around skirt. The suit is in smooth rayon bengaline, is elasticized for sleek fit.

Today's Recipes

Maple Cream Sundae

Ingredients: 1 cup maple syrup, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1 quart vanilla or coffee ice cream, pecans (salted or plain).

Method: Put maple syrup and butter in small saucepan. Over moderately low heat bring to a boil, stirring until butter melts; boil 3 minutes. Place pan in another pan containing cold water until syrup is warm to touch. Stir in evaporated milk. Serve maple cream sauce over ice cream and top with pecans. Makes 6 to 8 servings. (This sauce will be thin.)

Avoid storing canned foods in high kitchen cupboards because it's usually too warm there for them.

Eleanor Roosevelt Wins Big Ovation At Demo Convention

By ED CREAGH

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago —(P)—When the last dented campaign button has been swept up, when the fervor and sweat of the national conventions are only blurred echoes, two events will stand out in the memory of those who saw both gatherings of the political clans:

Herbert Hoover, 77, fighting back tears, getting the ovation of his life from the party he led to victory almost a quarter-century ago.

And Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, 67, a little moisture in her eyes, too, bearing the other party a message from her late husband—he who led the Democrats to victory over Hoover and three successive other Republicans in the most turbulent years of our century.

Last night it was Eleanor Roosevelt's turn.

It seemed natural to call her "Eleanor," though she was the widow of a President of the United States.

That's what the columnists and the cartoonists called her in the old days now dear to Democrats—the 12 years and a few months when she galvanized the globe, with the White House her home base.

She remembered those days too. She spoke of them, smiling, in her speech to the roaring Democrats... of a cartoon showing two men in a coal mine, one saying to the other:

"Gosh, here comes Eleanor. Now what is she doing—travelling around the world just making more trouble?"

A Serious Symbol

And the Democrats laughed. But not very heartily.

For this woman in the plain blue street dress, with the two big diamond rings casting sparks of reflection from the merciless spotlights, was a serious symbol to them. A symbol of victory after victory—in a year when the Republicans have some ideas about winning the presidency themselves for a change.

Besides, Mrs. Roosevelt brought a serious message—as did Herbert Hoover to the Republicans two weeks ago.

They got the same sort of reception. Spontaneous. Affectionate. Frenzied.

The delegates howled, rang cowbells and surged through the aisles for Eleanor. They demonstrated for a full 15 minutes. Newsmen were only half kidding when they said it was voting time the Democrats probably would nominate her for president.

And the messages they brought, this patriarch and this matriarch of the political tribes, were just about as far apart as they could be.

Mrs. Roosevelt said: "There is a x x x minority in this country which advocates changing our national symbol which is the eagle to that of the ostrich and withdrawing from the United Nations."

"Our men are fighting in Korea so that they will not have to fight in their own main streets."

"The cost of supporting the U. N. and its specialized agencies for each man, woman and child in the U. S. is 77 cents a year. The price of World War II was $1.708 for every person then alive."

Mrs. Roosevelt saved her heaviest ammunition until last. She told the delegates—who automatically and nostalgically cheer at the name of Roosevelt—she was going to read them the last message F. D. R. ever sent his countrymen.

It was prepared for the Jefferson Day dinner in Washington April 13, 1945.

Reads FDR's Message

Roosevelt never delivered it. He died just 24 hours before. So his wife read the message last night: "Let me assure you that my hand is the steadier for the work that is to be done, that I move more firmly into the task, knowing that you—millions and millions of you—are joined with me in the resolve to make this work endure."

"The work, my friends, is peace, more than an end of this war—an end to the beginning of all wars, yes, an end, forever, to this impractical, unrealistic settlement of the differences between governments by the mass killings of peoples."

"Today as we move against the terrible scourge of war—as we go forward toward the greatest contribution that any generation of human beings can make in this world—the contribution of lasting peace, I ask you to keep your faith. I measure the sound, solid achievement that can be made at this time by the straight edge of your confidence and your resolve. And to you, and to all Americans who dedicate themselves with us to the making of an abiding peace, I say:

"The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

Nothing in this convention has come close to equalling the ovation of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Back Interest Is Feature Of Paris Hats For Winter

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS—(AP)— French fashion's new winter hats look as if they've been designed for the lady who's decided to depoodle her hair. Just the thing to cover the straggling ends while a short haircut is growing in again.

The Paris designers are turning out new hats that drape or ripple low behind. "Batbacks," they call them.

As to materials, next to the perennial black velvet the No. 1 favorites are furry or satiny felts, in a new color range of soft, luscious fruit, vegetable and metal tints.

Marie-Christine, in her opening followed the trend toward soft, unlined hats that can be crushed like a handkerchief with no ill effects. Most of her battered cloche models would look exactly the same after being sat on.

There's an exotic oriental influence creeping in, too. Svend, the young Danish designer, last night showed three basic types—cloche, turban and fez.

Many of the cloches sported long, thin sword feathers, jutting out behind to poke the unwary in the eye. Some followed the low-behind line. Others went into deep sideways dives. Devil red, which looks just as it sounds, is the new Svend trademark color.

The Danish lad perched a pom-pom bigger than the hat on one chapeau. Another dangled diamond icicles. With a third comes a gold rosebud, opening out at the touch of a finger to a full-blown flower with diamond pollen.

Simone Cange showed oriental velvet turbans rich with embroidery. Other models were trimmed with downy ostrich feathers.

Get A New Perspective On Toned-Down Romance

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
When a person is in love, the end or near-end of a romance comes as a hard blow. And yet, such blows cannot ruin a person's life if he takes a rational viewpoint about them. That is what this young girl should do:

(Q) "I have gone steady with a fellow for over a year when he decided that he didn't want to go steady any more. I really took it hard. We were so much in love and always got along so well. After a few months he asked me out a couple of times, but I kept refusing. Then I just couldn't refuse him any more and since then we have been dating now and then. He treats me the same as before and he even tells me he still loves me but he never mentions anything about going steady again. I go out on other dates but can't enjoy myself. I have even refused dates just hoping he would ask me. Please help me."

(A) I can advise you in this matter. Now that summer is here, plan to go away for a complete change and a better perspective. Go to visit friends or relatives, or take a trip. Get away from your problem and look at it objectively.

The chances are that the young man still loves but he is not ready to settle down to marriage. So to avoid putting himself in a difficult position, he has told you he does not want to go steady with you any longer.

If you love him and think this is only a temporary phase, be patient and wait for him. But if you have reason to believe that his interest in you is waning, stop seeing him completely. Every time you go out with him will open up old memories and upset you so that you can't enjoy the companionship of any one else.

While you are away from home, go out and have a good time. This will not necessarily make you forget the man you love but it will help you to realize that there is something left in life for you after all.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Cheese should be taken out of the refrigerator about half an hour before you plan to serve it. When it is too chilled it is difficult to cut or slice thin.

U. P. Battalion To Be Honored

The Manistique National Guard Company along with other units of the Upper Peninsula battalion is making extra preparations for a good appearance at the annual Michigan National Guard encampment at Grayling in August, it is reported by Capt. E. J. Doyle, commander of the local company.

The reason for this is that the battalion is scheduled to be presented with battalion colors to which various campaign ribbons earned by the unit during its history have been affixed. The presentation will be made by Major General Ralph A. Loveland, commander of the Michigan division, and Governor G. Mennen Williams.

A history of the battalion has been compiled by its commanding officer, Lt. Col. Leonard Ward, of Escanaba, from records available in Washington, D. C., Capt Doyle said.

The history reveals that the battalion was organized at Calumet in 1871 and was first known as the Calumet Light Guards. Later the name was changed to Michigan Engineers.

Campaign streamers earned by the battalion include one in the Spanish-American War, five in World War I, five in World War II and two in the present Korean conflict. In addition the unit has won the French Croix de Guerre and a distinguished unit citation in World War II.

Another reason for the effort to have the Upper Peninsula battalion appear at its best is that General Loveland was once its commanding officer.

Information concerning the Camp Grayling presentation was given company officers Monday night by Lt. Col. Ward during regular monthly inspection. Others in the inspection group were Major Frellson Reese, of Ishpeming, army instructor, and Capt. Carlton Babb, of Ishpeming, battalion administrative assistant and supply officer.

Two new enlistments are reported at the local company—Wayne Wolfe, 3rd St., and Robert Maxwell, route 1.

Invasion Of Army Worms In Inwood, Hiawatha Reported

Prompt action to avert grain and garden crop destruction by an invasion of army worms in Inwood and Hiawatha townships is urged by Clayton D. Reid, county agricultural agent.

The worms, which crawl up oat and barley stalks and cut off the grain heads, may be controlled by use of a poisonous bran bait utilized in fighting grasshoppers or by spraying or dusting with chlordane or DDT, Reid said.

The poisoned bran should be spread in the evening.

The chlordane spray, if used, should include one pound of chlordane per acre with as much water as required. The DDT spray should include 1½ pounds of pure DDT per acre mixed with the required water. If dusting is to be done, a third more DDT should be used.

The spray should not be used on forage crops, Reid warned, but only on grain where the straw is to be used for bedding.

The army worm, about an inch long and nearly black with greenish-brown stripes, was reported Monday in the Cooks area. Three weeks ago James Wieland advised Reid that he had seen a few at his farm in Hiawatha township.

The worm is the larva stage of a flying insect and Reid believes the current hatch was aided by recent warm, wet weather. This is the first serious Schoolcraft County infestation in four years.

Mrs. George Huber, S. Cedar St., left Tuesday for a few days visit with friends and relatives in Green Bay and Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Young and Marilyn and Joyce and Sarah Murray, of Gladstone.

Resort Trade Aids Business

A thriving tourist season has taken some of the sting from the industrial doldrums into which Manistique was plunged several weeks ago with the closing of the Michigan Dimension Company and the strike at the Inland Lime and Stone Company plant.

Vacation traffic through the community has been especially heavy since the end of June, creating substantial business for Manistique commercial firms despite the industrial situation.

While Manistique store owners and managers are gratified by the prosperous resort trade, they express grave apprehension concerning business after the vacation season is over.

The Manistique Pulp and Paper company, running four days, was the only major industrial plant in operation this week. The Northwoods Manufacturing Company was down this week for repairs and because of an over-stocked yard but Charles Slining, owner and manager, reported yesterday that he expected to resume handle production next week. Although closed yesterday, the Hancock Lumber Company will also have maintained rather steady operations.

No break in the Inland Lime and Stone Company strike which has idled approximately 390 men is reported. The future of the Michigan Dimension plant also is uncertain, with efforts to purchase the firm from the Dearborn Company still underway.

Captive Bluegills To Be Fin-Clipped

Bluegills seized Sunday in Peanut Lake about 10 miles from Manistique will be fin-clipped tonight at the Thompson hatchery by members of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's club, it is announced by Dr. C. L. Novak, president.

The bluegills will be planted later in the northern part of Indian Lake.

Many of the bluegills, released Sunday night in one of the Thompson hatchery ponds, succumbed to heat Monday, Martin Miller, hatchery superintendent, reported yesterday. Miller also thinks that the oxygen content of the water, different than in Peanut Lake, may have adversely affected the fish. Trout in the ponds also suffered from Monday's warmth, Miller said.

Both Miller and Dr. Novak stressed the importance of getting bluegills fin-clipped as soon as possible and planted in Indian Lake.

Approximately 24 members of the club, some accompanied by their families, participated in the seining expedition Sunday. The operation was supervised by Miller and Lee Anderson, of Newberry, district fish supervisor for the department of conservation. Trucks, tanks and seines were furnished by the department.

Permission to seine other lakes for bluegills has been granted by the department, Dr. Novak reported. It is proposed to seine those lakes where the growth of bluegills has been stunted by adverse food or other conditions. No lakes supporting a healthy growth of bluegills will be seined.

Peanut Lake was poisoned a few years ago to eliminate other fish life in preparation for its conversion into a trout lake. Trout now inhabit the lake but someone, two or three years ago, planted more bluegills in its waters. The fish seined by local sportsmen had attained a growth of from two to three inches.

High Wind Tides Recorded Here

Lake Michigan wind tides, believed highest recorded here, buffeted docks and other shore installations in the Manistique area yesterday.

Tides estimated as high as two feet periodically rolled into Manistique harbor, partially overflowing docks, dunking fishhouse floors, and submerging part of the Girvin Coal and Dock Company road under approximately a foot of water. No damage was reported.

Time between tides varied but it was estimated that they were running roughly on the hour.

Both John Girvin, of the Girvin company, and R. G. Hentschell, manager of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company, reported the tides were believed to be about the highest recorded here.

A drifting rowboat outside Manistique breakwater yesterday noon caused some excitement as the Martin Mathson fishing, "Eddie Ann", made an effort to rescue it. Shore watchers believed the fish boat, coming in from a net lifting trip, was in trouble as it rolled and twisted apparently out of control. Both the Manistique state police and the local coast guard station were alerted.

Another fishing, the "Lois Marie", owned by Charles Frans, had started out to investigate about the time the Mathson craft, failing to retrieve the drifting rowboat, abandoned the effort and chugged into the safety of the harbor.

The crew on the Mathson boat managed to grapple the rowboat and get hold of its rope. The rope parted in the pull of the heavy seas, however, and the small craft, filled with water, continued

Especially are we grateful to the pallbearers, nurses of the Memorial Hospital, those who sent spiritual and floral bouquets and other expressions of sympathy. The memory of these acts will ever remain with us.

Residents Fight Off Dive-Bombing Birds

NEWTON, Ia. — (AP) — Dive-bombing bluejays are terrorizing the people of Newton.

Several youngsters have been badly frightened when they were "buzzed" by the jays and one was severely scratched by repeated attacks.

Police killed two of the birds and thought the attacks were ended. But a few days later Don Jennings, Newton photographer, was picking cherries and an infuriated jay nicked him twice on the head. Jennings killed the bird with an air pistol.

U. S. Plane Has No Equal For Malaysians

Americans use about 135 pounds of wheat flour per capita annually.

to drift along the breakwater pier toward shore.

Olympic Stands Filled To Capacity For First Time

HELSINKI—(AP)—The 70,000 seat Olympic stadium was sold out today for the first time since the opening ceremonies and the predominantly Finnish crowd was supremely confident that one gold medal would be coming its way.

The big drawing card was the javelin throw. This strenuous and often dangerous exercise, which has been banned from many American high school track meets, is a national sport of this small country.

Toivo Hyttinen is the Finnish champion. He and his teammates, Soini Nikkimen and Eino Leppanen, all threw the spear more than 70 meters (about 230 feet) in the Olympic trials. Any one of them could break the 20-year-old Olympic record of 72.62 meters (238 feet 7 inches) held by another Finn, Matti Järvinen.

Eight Records
Records have been broken so often in the first three days of track and field—eight out of the first 12 events—that the crowds have come to regard anything less than a record as a pretty poor show.

Three more new marks went into the books yesterday. Sim Iness of Los Angeles pulled a real surprise by out-throwing defending champion Adolfo Consolini in the discus with a record 55.03 meters (180 feet 5.55 inches). Consolini, who finished second, also bettered the previous record which he set at London four years ago.

Bob Richards of Laverne, Calif., raised the pole vault record to within a fraction of 15 feet when he cleared 4.55 meters.

And Herbert Schade, an effortless runner from West Germany, chopped three full seconds off the 5,000 meter record when he won his heat in 14:15.4.

Two Marks Tied
Olympic records were equalled in the other track and field finals yesterday. Mal Whitfield of Columbus, Ohio, repeated his 1948 success in the 800 meters and duplicated his time of 1:40.2. Marjorie Jackson of Australia won the 100 meter dash for women in 11.5 seconds, the same as Fanny Blankers-Koen posted four years ago. The Dutch housewife scratched yesterday because of illness.

Today's finals, besides the javelin, include the 200 meter dash, which should be another American triumph, the hop, step and jump with Brazilian Abhemar F. Da Silva favored, and the women's broad jump where Yvette Williams of

New Zealand should hold off a strong Russian challenge.

Rowing Takes Fore

For the first time since the games started last Saturday, track and field will have a serious rival for the fans' interest. The seven finals in rowing will be run off at 30-minute intervals this afternoon.

The British dominate the field with entries in five of the finals.

The French are involved in four finals and the United States, Russia and Finland in three.

The big race should come in the eights where the United States has its strongest representative—the unbeaten heavyweight crew from the U. S. Naval Academy. The opposition is tough, for Britain offers the Leander Club composed mainly of members of last year's all-victorious Cambridge crew and winner of the Grand Challenge cup at the Royal Henley Regatta earlier this month. Also in the field are Russia, Australia and Germany. The U. S. and Britain should run one-two with an all-out battle for third among the others.

With Ray Crandall

Delta County hurlers find easy pickings in the Northern State League. First Ray Menard of Escanaba moved into action for the Menominee Indians with marked success. He has three victories to date. Next Dale Gibson of Rapid River toed the slab for Menominee and picked up a win. Latest to switch from this area is Billy Schaffer, Garden hurler who has confined his action to Bay de Noc competition in the past. Schaffer went 6-2-3 innings the other night, fanned 10, walked five and allowed five hits to put Menominee on its way to a 6-5 victory over Marinette.

They tell the story around town about the Little Leaguer who made a sensational catch in the outfield to stop a threatening rally by the opposing team. While the crowd cheered and players yelled, the kid's mother rushed out on the diamond and covered her young hero with kisses. "Gee, whiz, Mom, leggo," he pleaded, "what'll the fellas think."

Chuck Davey, former Michigan State College star who is making a devastating invasion of the professional welterweight ranks, is a rarity in the ring racket. Few collegians go on to fistic heights, although quite a few have tried the punch-for-pay business. Billy Soose, who was a collegiate champion at Penn State just before the last war, turned pro and wound up with the world middleweight crown a few years later. And Bob Foxworth, who fought a while at the University of Wisconsin, was a ranking light heavyweight until his career ended abruptly after an exhibition bout with heavyweight champ Joe Louis.

But to get back to Davey. He's the only known holder of a master's degree to reach the top ranks of pro boxing. The stylish welterweight entered Michigan State in 1942 as an engineering student. He was drafted into military service in 1943 and returned to the Spartan campus in 1947 as a phy ed major. He received his B. S. degree in 1949. He fought professionally for a year and then began graduate work in school administration. He received his master's in August, 1951. Davey was better than a "B" average student through most of his undergraduate and all of his graduate work.

United States, Japan Rated Tank Favorites

HELSINKI—(AP)—The 1952 edition of the men's Olympic swimming is shaping up as a two-nation affair between the United States and Japan.

America has its strongest Olympic team in history and experts say the Japanese are within an eyelash of being as good. The chips will start to fall Friday.

Russia Is Leading In Olympic Scoring

HELSINKI—(AP)—Russia is leading the unofficial Olympic scoring parade with the United States in second place after three days of competition.

Due to strength in the gymnastic competition, the Soviet's athletes have piled up 136.5 points. The United States with eight firsts in track and field has scored 115.

Switzerland, also strong in gymnastics, vaulted into third place yesterday with 49 points, followed by Japan with 26.5 and Sweden with 21.5.

Leo Pulls All-Star Rock

AP Newsfeatures
PHILADELPHIA—Even in winning, a baseball manager can pull a rock.

In the fourth inning of the recent All-Star game with the National League leading, 3-2, and the bases loaded, Manager Leo Durocher permitted a pitcher, Bob Rush, to go to bat. Rush had been unsteady the previous inning, allowing three hits and a walk for the American League's only runs in the game held to five innings by rain.

Durocher might have been thinking of his light Giant bench but this was the All-Star game in which everybody is supposed to get a chance, no matter what inning. And Lippy had a benchful of hitters that included Ralph Kiner, Duke Snider, Red Schoendienst, Carl Furillo, Wes Westrum, Toby Atwell, Gil Hodges and Alvin Dark. He also had Eddie Stanky. It would have been a perfect spot for the Philadelphia native to draw a base on balls.

Certainly, not one of the 32,785 people in the stands paid to see Bob Rush go to bat with the bases loaded.

This game is supposed to be a show for the fans. Only this time it seems the fans were forgotten.

LEO DUROCHER
Forgot a Bench

baseball's other antiquated parks. The demand of baseball officials is so great that when the game moves to a small park hardly more than 15,000 fans can get tickets. Parking facilities also are poor around Shibe Park. And taxicabs are as scarce as tickets.

Baseball owners left here griping over the transportation situation. Lou Perini, boss of the Boston Braves, had to take a trolley cab back to his hotel. There wasn't one cab in sight when the rains came and many suits of clothes were ruined.

tests should pit Americans against Japanese in the gold medal competition.

German Champ

One race, however, probably will be decided between an Australian and a German. That is the 200-meter breaststroke in which world record holder Jerbert Klein of Germany and Australia's John Davies, who goes to school at the University of Michigan, are favorites.

The dope put Klein slightly in the lead on the basis of his record of 2:27.5, made indoors in a 25-meter pool. Olympic competition is in a 50-meter outdoor pool.

Nobody has a chance to see Klein work out. He does not plan to come to Helsinki until July 30, the day before the breaststroke heats are scheduled.

One other event puts an American and a European in the lime-light. That is the 100-meter backstroke.

Buckeye Ace
Experts that 18-year-old Yoshio Oyakawa of Ohio State and Gilbert Bozon of France will fight it out for first place. Oyakawa did the trials in 1:05.7 to better the Olympic mark of 1:05.9 set in 1936 by America's Adolph Kiefer.

Bozon has been turning in times of 1:04 and 1:05 regularly. But the sprints, the 400-meter and the 1500-meter free styles—choice morsels of the competition—figure to be an American-Japanese argument.

America's Clark Scholes of Michigan State has turned in the best 120-meter free style time in the world this year—57.3, with him is Dick Cleveland, 22, of Ohio State, who finished 18 inches back of Scholes in the U. S. trials and Ron Gora, 19-year-old Chicago schoolboy.

The Japanese have entered two youngsters and a canny veteran in the century.

Japan Stars

Yoshihiro Hamaguchi, 26, will be the first Japanese competitor to hit the water when he starts in the opening trial heat of the 100.

His teammates in this event are students Toru Goto, a high school boy, and Hiroshi Suzuki, freshman at Nihon University. They've been turning in times hugging the 58-second mark.

The Japanese and Americans will not meet in the round of trial heats.

Japanese pride of the poll—Hiroshiro Furuhashi—is given a slight edge in the 400. Next in line is Wayne Moore, 20-year-old Yale junior who may take the 400 if he is right. The two are virtual certainties to meet in the finals. Moore swam the distance in 4:36.2 in the trials. Furuhashi, termed the "Flying Fish," has done it in 4:33.2.

America's great rhythmic swimmer, Ford Konno, has not been doing so well in workouts and one U. S. coach said the 19-year-old Ohio State freshman from Hawaii has tightened up.

Lions Rookies In Daily Workouts

Ypsilanti, Mich.—(AP)—Coach Buddy Parker assigned his Detroit Lions rookies to two daily workouts today in preparation for the National Pro Football season.

In camp were 27 rookies with six more on the way. Working out with the rookies were four veterans, quarterbacks Bobby Layne and Jim Hardy, halfback Jack Christiansen and end Cloyce Box.

Layne, whose arm was giving him misery at the end of last season, had good news. He reported his arm O. K. and that he expects to throw as well as ever.

Bob brought good news from his fellow Texan, Doak Walker. He reported that Walker's injured arm is healing and will be all right by the time the season starts. Walker injured his arm in an accident last month.

Arcaro Eyes Big Winner

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jockey Eddie Arcaro will try to boot home his second record purse winner in five days aboard favored Mimi Mine in today's $68,175 Arlington Lassie stakes, richest race ever run for juvenile fillies.

Mimi Mine, owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff, Memphis, Tenn., heads a field of 11 youngsters in the six furlong event at Arlington Park which will pay the winner $53,275.

Arcaro last Saturday piloted Calumet farm's Mark-Ye-Well to a $105,375 victory in the Arlington Classic, thus grabbing the richest prize for 3 year olds in the history of racing.

The top swag in today's race makes it the biggest hunk of cash ever to be awarded in a 2 year old filly stake. Largest previous winner's take in the Lassie was $51,000 taken by Dixiana stable's Four Winds.

Another top contender is Hal Price Headley's Aerolite, a winner twice and in the money five times in seven starts. Jack W. Denis' Confederacy approaches the Lassie with one victory, a second and a third in three races.

Rated dangerous, too, is Fulvous, owned by Miss Mary Fisher, daughter of Charles T. Fisher, Detroit automobile body builder and owner of the Dixiana stables. Fulvous has one victory in two starts.

Veteran of the field is S. I. Crew's Celtic Play, winner of two races in 11 starts. Harry Trotsek's Betsy T won her first start on July 17 at Arlington. Rounding out the field are Klutassen, Time To Khai, Thoughtfully, and Arab Actress.

The Umpire

QUESTION: The pitcher delivers a wild pitch. The ball strikes the ground about eight feet in front of the plate.

The batter hits it for a home run. The pitcher argues the ball was dead as soon as it hit the ground. Should the run count?

Answer: Although it's true a pitch which strikes the ground in front of the plate must be declared a ball even though it later passes directly over the plate, such a pitched ball is not dead the moment it strikes the ground. The umpire must wait until the ball actually passes the batter before he may rule on it. If the batter strikes at it and misses, it's a strike. If he hits it into fair territory, it's a hit.

Q. Is the batter out if he hits the ball while standing outside of the batter's box?

A. Yes.
Q. What is the ruling if a coach leaves the coach's box and physically assists the runner to return to base while a play is being made for him?

A. The runner is out.

Milwaukee Will Have Hockey League Team

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Milwaukee expects to have an entry in the International Hockey League this winter.

Michael E. Pre-ton, representing local stockholders, filed incorporation papers Monday for new club. He said the team would play 30 games in the Arena with Jack Stover as manager. The league membership includes Grand Rapids, Mich.

Legion Junior, Finals Tonight

Rain, which has become one of the biggest factors in the local baseball scene in recent weeks, drew a hand in the American Legion Junior tournament at Menominee yesterday.

The continued downpour which began early in the morning resulted in a flooded diamond at Menominee and the championship finals between Bark River and Menominee was postponed to tonight at 7:30.

Al's Bark River Legion team needs one win over the Menominee entry to cop the 11th district championship. Al's already has a tournament win over the host team, and two defeats mean elimination.

A full-strength Bark River squad will be at Menominee for the first game tonight. Fred Boddy, southpaw hurler, will likely start for Manager M. McComber. A doubleheader will be played if Bark River loses the first game tonight.

*Winner of the 11th district tournament goes into action Saturday at Negaunee against Iron River, 12th district titlist, for the Upper Peninsula championship. Iron River is the defending U. P. champion.

Cubs Nip Pony League All-Star Team 4 To 3

A capacity crowd jammed Memorial Field stadium last night to see the Escanaba Pony League all-stars drop a narrow 4-3 verdict to the youthful Cubs of the Waubesa League.

The Pony Leaguers, who leave for district tournament play at Joliet, Ill., this week, stretched the Cubs, last year's Michigan Little League champs, all the way.

In fact the all-stars had a 3-0 lead before the roof fell in in the sixth inning and the Cubs wiped out the deficit with a four-run rally.

Big Inning
The Pony Leaguers scored all three runs in the fifth inning. Gary Paler, who relieved Ricky Erickson on the mound in the fifth, issued two walks and uncorked a wild pitch to get himself in trouble. A single by Mike Goymerac and a passed ball caused the trouble, with Dan Rousseau, Bob Rodman and Bunny Martin crossing the plate.

Rodman, tiring after five innings of scoreless ball in which he allowed only one hit, was shelved in the sixth by the Cubs. They belted four hits, took a pair of walks and a passed ball to score their four runs. Cliff O'Donnell, Bill Goodreau, Al Erickson and Gary Hinn scored.

The Cubs nipped a threat in the fourth with a neat double play that brought a round of applause from the spectators. Erickson, Cub pitcher, started the double by scoping up a grounder and firing to Dubord at second. Dubord whipped the ball to Bob Chriske at first to nip the runner.

Add Two Stars
Erickson went five innings for the Cubs, fanning four and scattering three hits. Paler whiffed five, allowed three runs and two hits.

Rodman gave up five hits and four runs while fanning four and allowing five hits, four in the big sixth inning. Don Trotter came in in the seventh and retired the Cubs in order, fanning two.

The Pony League all-stars, selected by league officials this week, begin tournament play at Joliet Friday night. Two players added to the all-star squad yesterday were Oliver Swanson of Elks and Don Anderson of Kiwanis.

Miller's Ring Experience Makes Him A Top Referee

AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK—When Ray Miller is the third man in the ring you hardly know he's there. Nine years as a top-ranking lightweight boxing is the answer. It's as simple as that.

"As soon as a fight starts you will see one of the two fighters take the lead," says the Chicago native who now resides in Flushing, N. Y. "The idea is to work behind the man taking the lead. It's easier for ringside and television fans to see the fight that way."

Once a fight starts and Miller is the referee he conveniently forgets the names of the fighters. Their names are on the round-by-round card anyway. Below one fighter's name he writes "black" and puts down "white" beneath the other boxer's name. When each round is over Miller scores his points either for "black" or "white."

Uses Sign Language
Miller likes to use the sign language rather than his voice when working a bout. Every referee uses the palms up method when signaling a fighter to keep his blows above the belt. But Ray also grabs the back of a neck when he sees a fighter try the rabbit punch. He also makes heel and backhand motions when he catches a ringman trying these illegal tactics.

"The one motion in boxing that might be confusing to a baseball fan is the gesture made in front of a referee's body when he puts his palms down," says Miller. "That motion means the end of a bout or a knockout. In baseball it means the base runner is safe."

Miller, who knocked out Jimmy McLarin in seven rounds in a 1928 fight in Detroit, fought some of the best lightweight and welterweights in the Twenties. He met Barney Ross, Billy Petrolle and Sid Terris. He was famous for a southpaw hook at long range and an uppercut that he used in close.

Miller is one of the most alert referees in the ring today. In the recent Joey Maxim-Ray Robinson fight his quick action prevented Robinson from suffering possible permanent injury. Miller saw that Robby had been reeling around from the heat and summoned the commission doctor.

Substituted in 10th
Miller, incidentally, took over in the 10th round when Referee Ruby Goldstein complained of dizzy spells due to the heat. Miller didn't check Goldstein's round-by-round card.

"It was too wet, anyway," says Miller, who had no intention of checking the card. "If the fight had gone the distance I intended to give the card to Commissioner Dan Dowd and let him tally it."

An incident Miller likes to recall happened in the Polo Grounds last fall in a preliminary bout between heavyweights Elkins Brothers and Aaron Wilson. Brothers was taking a terrific beating. Miller was all set to stop the bout until he walked over to Brothers' corner between rounds.

"Where are you, Brothers?" asked Miller.

"I'm in the Polo Grounds, Mr. Referee," answered Brothers "and I know I'm catching."

Miller laughed and walked away. "Catching" to a fighter means "taking punishment" or "catching everything your opponent throws."

In a bout at Sunnyside Gardens Miller saw that one of the fighters wasn't doing so well. He thought the boy might be hurt or sick. He knew he could do better. He had seen him before.

"Now of you don't feel all right I'll stop it," Miller said. "I know you can fight better."

Miller walked away without waiting for an answer, as he always does in the ring. During the last four rounds the fighter Miller had reprimanded rallied and beat his opponent.

Olympic Notes

HELSINKI—(AP)—Notes of an American in Helsinki:

Matt Mann, United States Olympic swimming coach, beefs that his pet sport is being slighted.

"Why should we only have eight events in men's swimming, including two divas, while track and field has 24?" the white haired 67-year-old coach asked. "We're the tail of the dog in the Olympics. There is tremendous world wide interest in swimming and its growing bigger year by year."

"We should have world championships in swimming every year or at least every two years," said Mann who coaches the aquatic sport at the University of Michigan. "Detroit would be happy to stage a world championship and pay the full expenses of the world's best swimmers."

Everything But No-Hitter

Lots Of Action In Majors

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Baseball fans looked back to last night's thrill-packed action and cracked "what, no no-hitter?" That's about the only thing that didn't occur in the major leagues. And that, too, came within one pitch of being accomplished.

The star, (or is it victim?) of that pitching feat was Virgil Trucks, already the author of the American League's sole no-hitter this season. The Detroit Tiger right-hander gave up just one hit, a single by Eddie Yost, in hurling the Tigers to a 1-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Brooklyn's Dodgers met a four-run 10th inning by Cincinnati with a five-run outburst of their own to nip the Reds, 7-6, and retain their seven and a half game bulge over the Giants in the National League race. Ken Raffensberger, third Cincy pitcher of the inning, hit Rube Walker with a pitched ball to force over the winning run.

Vern Bickford and the Boston Braves spotted the Chicago Cubs a 4-0 lead on Dee Fondy's grand slam homer and came back to win, 6-4. Sibby Sisti batted in three runs with a homer and single.

The Philadelphia Phils climbed to the .500 mark with a double win over Pittsburgh, 14-4 and 8-1 and moved to within a game of the fourth place Cubs.

Rookie Dick Gernert rapped a two-run homer in the 13th to give Boston a 4-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. The Red Sox, blanked for the first eight innings by Marvin Grissom tied the score in the top of the ninth. The win snapped a string of 10 consecutive night defeats on the road for Boston.

Single Spoils No-Hit Bid By Virgil Trucks

DETROIT — (AP)—Virgil Trucks, right-hand fireball hurler for the Detroit Tigers, last night turned in a one-hit, 1-0 win over the Washington Senators, but was never under the pressure facing most pitchers working on a no-hit game.

The 33-year old Alabama hurler who gained a 1-0 no-hit decision over the same team last May 15, gave up a clean single to lead-off batter, Eddie Yost in the first inning.

After that single, a slow elusive drive into left field, Virgil retired 26 batters giving up three walks and striking out ten.

It was his first one-hit performance of the year and his fourth win as against 11 losses.

Drops Singles
Trucks outpitched "masterful" Walter Masterson who held the Tigers to but four hits, including a game winning single by Walt Dropp in the first inning.

Dropp, who continued his batting streak, scored Johnny Groth with the single to give Detroit its tenth one run win of the year as against 20-one run losses. Dropp also singled in the third and walked in the sixth to post a perfect night at bat. Walt has hit

NEAR RECORD
DETROIT — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers may be in the American League cellar but they have a chance of breaking a league record for perfection. The Tigers now have played seven games in a row without an error. The league record of nine games in a row is shared by New York, Cleveland and Boston.

to reach second base in his near no-hit repeat. Jackie Jensen walked in the fourth and stole second.

A crowd of 18,706 fans saw double plays erase two Senators who reached first via bases on balls.

Short Game
The close pitchers' duel between Trucks and Masterson resulted in one of the shortest games on record this year at Briggs stadium. The game required only one hour and 46 minutes.

Vic Wertz suffered a pulled muscle in his right side in Monday's exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Pirates and is expected to remain out of the lineup for ten days.

Pat Mullin replaced Wertz in right field last night.

Hutchinson also announced he was removing himself from the Tigers' active player list to make room for catcher Matt Batts. Batts returned to the Tiger lineup in the Pittsburgh game after being sidelined with an injury.

Hal Newhouse faces Frank Shea in this afternoon's game between the Tigers and the Senators. Newhouse will be seeking his fourth win of the season as against six defeats. Shea will bid for his tenth win as against two losses.

U. S. Navy Crew Olympic Favorite

HELSINKI — (AP) — A 30-year old dream comes true today for big, silver-haired Russell (Rusty) Callow, dean of American rowing coaches.

He gets to see his mighty unbeaten Navy shell shoot for the Olympic eight-oared championship.

Coach since 1922, and pupil of the fabled Herman Conibear, Callow never had taken a crew to the Olympics until this year.

He had seen his pupils, such as Al Ulbrickson of the University of Washington, gain such glory but the honor had managed to escape him.

Since 1920

This is Rusty's day on Helsinki's bumpy Meilahdi course and his sleek brown shell is heavily favored to retain the championship the U. S. has held since 1920. That was the year another Navy crew wrenched the crown from Great Britain.

Britain stands to provide the big test today with its smooth stroking Leander galleyman, made up of former and present Cambridge university men. The Navy oarsmen beat the British in the opening trial heat by a length and a half but the British rowing experts contend the Englishmen didn't go all out.

In the finals with the United States and Britain are Australia, Russia and Germany. The Aussies, even with their No. 6 oar, Mervyn Finlay, in a cast with a fractured rib, looked strong in winning their semi-final test yesterday.

Other Survivors
Only one of the seven final events likely to challenge the heavyweights for interest is the single sculls in which Mervyn Wood, Sydney, Australia, cop, defends his crown against a formidable array.

The United States has representatives left in only three events after yesterday's debacle in which it lost four crews.

The four-man crew with coxswain from the University of Washington and with Ulbrickson's son at No. 2 is one of the surviving units.

The other is the pairs without cox—Charles Logg of Monmouth, N. J., son of another famous coach, and Tom Price of Eaton-town, N. J. They are Rutgers University crewmen.

Schoolboy And Singer In Lead

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.— (AP)—A 17-year-old Wichita, Kan., schoolboy and a Hollywood singer were among 32 qualifiers who today begin championship match play in the annual Broadmoor Invitational golf tournament.

The medalist is Bobby Vickers. His one-under-par 69 was the best round shot in two days of qualifying play and five strokes better than his older brother, Jim, National Collegiate champion.

The singer is Gordon McRae. He was one of seven players to just barely qualify with 75s over the hillside course.

Young Vickers meets Gene Zuppann, Goodland, Kan., one of five who shot 73s. McRae plays another 73 shooter, Paul Ransom, Colorado Springs high school star.

Defending champion Bob Goldwater of Phoenix, Ariz., didn't have to qualify. He meets Bill Carey of Denver, who also had 73.

Five men qualified with even par 70's: Howard Creel, Colorado Springs; Buster Reed, Denton, Tex.; Dick Spangler, Lincoln, Neb.; Loy Martin, Tulsa, and Keith Fowler, Ardmore, Okla. Creel plays Dick Jennings, Lubbock, Tex., 74; Reed meets John Winters, Tulsa, 74; Spangler plays Jim Vickers; Martin takes on Dan Walker, Denver, 74; and Fowler goes against Dick Braun, Denver, 73.
